View of the Causes of Runaway Mar-riages From an Resnemical Mand-point.

count of a runaway in which the daughter of a local politician figured as the heroins. "What's bosh, doctor?" asked the reporter, on the lookout for a possible item. "Why, this runaway match which you have just published. That girl's father is a sharp man, but this is one of the sharpest tricks he has ever played since I knew him. That elopement was all a sham."

"It's as simple as can be. The girl's father is one of the best known men in this section all tills, so he just opposed his dauthter's wishes strongly enough to give a pretext for the two to run over to Jeffersonville, where the expenses of the wedding, all told, didn't amount to more than five or tas dollars. There were no the dresses, flowers, gifts or anything of that sort, and when they returned home they had a chance to go to housekeeping quietly and uncetentatiously it was a shrewd plan, and a sonable one for

away matches which had no other reason than economy. Parents, relatives and all were willing for the young people to commit matrimony, but the expense was a serious consideration, and a little timely opposition which caused an elopement smoothed out the crooked channel in which the course of true love was running. The cost of the wedding was saved for house-keeping, the young couple were forgiven and all want on as merriy as if there had been any amount of

"Generally in the middle classes, those who are only moderately well-to-do, and who yet want to keep up appearances. The very poor and the extremely rich are never troubled with such considerations, but the poor and proud often makesus of this strategem. I've known of some very aristocratic couples starting out on their matrimonial journey with an elopement, which was caused by nothing on earth save a want of funds. These fushionable weldings cost large sums."

"Hear that you've got the biggest bear in the country. "Got a whale, let me tell von."

"Well, I'll tell you what I want. I've got the finest buildog in the south. I gave $100 for him the other day, and up to this time he has whipped two bears. I want him to fight

"I don't believe he could whip him." "Yes, bu can A large buildog can whip a bear any time I'll bring him over to-morrow."

Next day the gentleman and the dog called on the colonel and the bear. The bear was chained to a tree in a grove, and when the log aw him he wanted to eat him without

'urther ceremony,
"Here," said the colonel, "I don't want the bear to get away after he chews the head off your dog, so you'll have to hold one end of the chain."

"Blamed if I do. I'll tell you what. Tie the dog to one end of the chain and let the the dog to one end of the chain and let the bear take care of the other end."

This was agreed upon, and the dog was soon tugging at his end of the line, anxious to open the engagement. The bear whined and looked far away. It was evident that he didn't relish the coming performance. When everything was ready the dog was liberated. He duried at the lear and crashed him by He darted at the bear and grabbed him by the ham. The bear shock him off, but in-stead of resenting the insult, he turned and began to climb a tree, dragging the dog after him. He went out on a limb, and before the

The Great Barnum and London Shows In addition to their claim of excellence for the merits of their triple circus, the Barnum and London shows urge much on the moral tone and reputability of their performers. "We have endeavored," said Mr. James A. Bailey, "to elevate the tone of the circus, and there is now with us no lady performer I would have the slightest hesitancy in introducing to my own wife. We are making it possible for a woman to be a performer and still be a lady." This is a very com mendable spirit, and there is no doubt much could be done by example to elevate the circus to a plane there is no rea-much could be done by example to elevate the circus to a plane there is no reason it should not occupy. Ring performances have ever been popular. There is about them a sort of amusement and entertainment that can be got in no other way, many of the same exhibitions when given in theatres losing their charm and interest. Then the athletic, acrobatic and equostrian feats, which more properly belong to the circus, are forms of sport no one finds harm in encouraging, and, when presented under auspices that do not imperit the self-respect of the patron, they are just as much entitled to genteel patronage as any other form of vigorous, physical exhibition. There has been a marked change in the class of attendance upon tented shows of recent years. The added convenience of seating, the careful supervision of guardians of the pence, the modification of performances, and the good offices of the managers have induced people to visit the circus who would, a few years ago, have been horrified at the mere suggestion of such a thing. Barnum took the lead in this direction, and, without disparagement to several other worthy enterprises, it may fairly be said that he has kept the lead. This big show will give its first exhibition on the afternoon of Fridsy next, and it may be seen from the advertisement that he has a good deal to offer, and that its the largest in the world.

Addresses were from a Macon county man who is visiting varione points in Kansas: delivered by President Villard and Hop. Win. M. Evarta.

Con. W. F. Villas, of Wisconsin, says he regards a Democratic victory next year as a foregone conclusion. So was a Democratic victory. a foregone conclusion in 1980, to and 3 jack rabbits. Monday we killed 45, and the next day we killed 20 more on the hear them tell it, and in 1876, and in 1868 and 1864. In fact we do not remember a campaign where a Democratic victory was not a foregone conclusion till the election had passed and the ballots were counted. The tenth is that the conclusion has all the next day we killed 20 more on the way back to Mr. Price's, which is 9 miles. We had several races with the gray hounds and jack rabbits. We hunted one day over at Mr. Price's; killed 25 or 30 elickens that day. On the 18th we went down to Eldorado, from there up Wainut river, about 10 miles from Eldorado, to Joe McDaniel's. Joe and I went a hunting and killed 23 chickens and one is a hunting and killed 23 chickens and one trouble is that the conclusion has always been foregone but the victory has been an after consideration that has been an after consideration that has plotted along in a matter of nice base, and a mink on my hock. We has plodded along in a matter of were gone two weeks, when we returned to Mr. Price's, and then to Mr. Pope's. fact way and come in at the last contrary to conclusions.

Vermont new has a very stringent assessment law, and it operates to bring to light very much property that heretofore has escaped taxation. In three years the taxable man had 6 acres of ground that raised property in the state has increased from $100,350,000 to $169,022,000, with a Mr. Holliner, who raised 50,000 bushels of wheat last year and 34,000 bushels of wheat last year. and the taxable personal property from $15,087,000 to $15,580,000. six weeks longer to fluish his own grain. He expects to start nine drills to drilling Of course such a law causes complaint, but it probably comes nearer wheat next week. Down at Pierence the: securing an equality of tax burdens say one man had 107 bushels of oats by than any the state ever had before, and the effect must, of course, be to lessen the rate of tax on all property.

THE crafty Weaver of Iowa as pires to be in the United States Senate. The seat now occupied by Wil liam B. Allison would, he thinks, about fit his greenback. The agree ment is that his followers, a beggarly following of flatints, shall help elect Kinne Governor, and then the Dem ocrats turn around and help the Greenbackers elect Weaver. That would be a case of the hide going with the tail, but then the hide has this advantage, that it wags the tail until after the election. This is a very decided advantage. Judging from present indications the Republicans will have a reduced majority, etill enough to answer the practical

In Consequence Whereof the Corn Crop of '83 was More or Less Damaged-The Oriminal Calender-Washington Hews News Summar.

Sr. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 10 .- Advices onlinue to your in from all parts of Minussota and Wisconsin, and state that great niury was done by the frosts Friday and Salurday nights. Weather reports received at the various railroad offices show that heavy frost formed all through the northwestern country, and from every section come reperts of great damage to the corn erep. What little corn there is along the Manitoba railway has been much frozen, and in many places the crop has been killed outright. Along the Omaha road, where the greater part of the corn of this section of country is grawn, the weather was not so cold, but still the frost was heavy, and serious damage was done. The crop in the the first of the week was in good shape everywhere, and the only thing feared by armers was the early front. Owing to the wet weather in the spring the crop was tery much backward. No estimates of damage done have been received, and for few days it will be impossible to toll exactly bow serious it is. Wheat, outs and other crops were in no way damaged, as they ago.
In Northern Wisconsin lee formed Some

A Confessed Thief.

This moon the chief of police of the town of Terre Haute, Ind., arrived in the city with one Billy Hughes in custody, a party who confesses to having stolen a $100 mare belonging to Lawis Sheets from a hitching rack near the old Revere House, about a month ago. Hughes is now in the county jail. He states that he parted with the mare at a town near the Indiana State line, and if Mr. Sheets, VENNIGERBOLZ has Luckswanna and who lives near the old Spangler mill east of Decatur, will bear the expenses, efforts will be made to find the missing animal, THE present city council is determined An officer from Sullivan brought to the to lo something for the benefit of the city to day a young man who it was any general public in the way of important posed was guilty of stealing a horse from improvements. A Farewell Social.

The sociable and festival to be given by the lattice of Stapp's Chapel on next Thursday evening, will be one of unusual interest to the members of the congregation and friends of the pastor. It is designed as a farewell sociable for Rev. W. H. Musgrove, who has served the church three years as pastor, and under the rules will be given another charge by the conference which meets at Danville on the 19th. The ladies will serve an alumdance of refreshments, and if the evening is cool will provide ovaters. Let all friends of Time afternoon Berry Heidrick pleaded the church be present. The "Sparks" company have arrived in in city and will present the new comedy, "Bauch of Keys," at the opera house tonight, showing two theors of a hotel and plenty of special scenery. There is a funny motive in the comedy. A hotel proprietor wills his cetablishment to that one of his three pieces who shall be adjudged the ugliest, the arbiter being the first commercial drummer who shall sojourn in the house after it is reopened: The sisters - whose name is Keys-constitute the banch. There is opportunity for the display of the well-known talent of the company in mimicry, the assumption of disguises, burlesque, songe and dances. Don't miss seeing this pasy tonight and hear the sparkling music.

Col. Dr. Hood, medical referes of the Pension Bureau at Washington City, was in Decatur Saturday forenoon on businem connected with the formation of a new board of pension examiners in this city. Dr. Hood is anxious to have a board at work in Decator, and desires to have the difficulties that have existed amicably adjusted. He conferred with several parties in Decatur, to some of whom he expressed regret that the old board had been abolished. He stated that he felt now that the abolishment had been wrongfully done, but on account of various letters that had reached the department through the mail and in papers, he couldn't replace all the old members. Before leaving Decatur Dr. Hood stated that if all the parties would accept, and he hoped they would, a new board would be appointed at once, to be composed of the following persons: Dr. Ira B. Curtis, who has been pension examiner in Decatur 20 years : Dr. J. N. Randall, and Dr. William Sturgis, of Macon. It has been published that Dr. Hood was a rebel soldier. Such is not the fact. He enlisted in the Union army at Akron, Ohio, as a private soldier, and served during the war with a clean record, coming out of the struggle a colonel.

A Street Sensation To-day an old farmer from Cisco came to Decatur looking for his daughter, Emma Keller, aged 17, who on Thursday last left her home and went to St. Louis with a young man named Sweeney, to whom she' was married by Justice Taffey on Friday last. Mr. Sweeney and his bride returned to Decatur to-day, and were seen on the streets by the irate father, who wanted to tear his daughter from her husband. But the couple clung together, and all three, in company with Officer Condon, visited State's Attorney Johns, to whom Sweeney showed his marriage certificate. Still the old man was huffy, and wanted his unwelcome son-in-law arrested for abduction, but Mr. Johns said that couldn't be done. Mr. Keller, still mad, shook his fist at Sweeney, and told him that if he ever saw him on the streets of Oisco he would kill him on sight. Slow curtain, to rumbling music.

A Peculiar "Find."

James Hunter is a farmer who lives three miles east of Decatur. He owns two horses, and they were put in his stable last night and the door left open. This morning at 20'clock Mr. Hunter was awakened by a noise at the barn. He got up, dressed himself, and went out to the barn. He found the door closed and inside were his two horses undisturbed. and with them a strange animal which he failed to recognize. The "find" is a dark bay with white face, two white hind feet, and three years old. Mr. Hunter thinks thieves were about and came to his place to exchange the young horse for an older one. He failed to see any strangers about the farm, and has instituted inquiries to learn the name of the owner of the stolen bay.

Reunited.

A lady called on Marshat Mason on Saturday morning, bringing letters of introduction from officials and leading citisens of a distant city. Her errand was to discover her husband, who had disap peared from his home nearly two mouths ago, and whom she had reason to believe was in Decatur. The Marshal went to work on the case, and on Sunday morning had discovered the trusht. By a little strategy the wife was brought into the presence of the husband at his boarding house just as he arose from the dinner talooked because the book containing the blc, and the warmth with which she award was misplaced. The following was greeted him showed that her love for him the premium offered: "By Chambers, had not died out. THE DECATUR POLPTY

Filled Sunday by Baptist Ministers-Di

Decatur church-going people had as opportunity on Sunday of hearing excellent sermons delivered by ministers from a distance who were in the city last week attending the annual session of the Springfield Baptist Association, which adjourned Saturday evening to meet at Springfield in October, 1884.

The chief sermon of the day was deliv ered at the Bantist church at 10:30 a. m. by Rev. A. A. Kendrick. D. D., president of Shurtieff College, who selected for his subject, "The Old and the New," during which the eminent divine and educational instructor took occasion to enlighten his heavers as to the authonticity of the Scriptures and the Tests. ment, which he proved by dates and statements to be reliable in every particular The percration was specially interesting and able. The sermon was delivered ex-

Dr. Kendrick presched at the Presbyterian church at 7:80 p. m.; Rev. B. F. Patt at this church at 10:30; Rev. J. Y. Aitchison, D. D., at the First M. E. church at 10:30 s. m.: Rev. Roach at 7:30 p. m.: Rev. D. W. McBride at Stapp's Chapel at 7:30 p. m.: Rev. Rosch and Rev. Patt at the Christian church; Rev. W. C. Walker at the U. B. church, and Rev. McBride and Rev. Rosels at the Church of God. THE WORK OF REV. TRUEBLOOD.

The labors of H. W. Trueblood, wh has been the faithful and energetic pastor of the United Brethren church in Decatus for two years past, closed for the conference year at the church on Sunday with specially interesting services morning and evening in the presence of large congregations, and to-morrow the pastor will leave for Locust Grove, near Shelbyville, to attend the annual conference, at which Bishop Kephart will preside. Under the pastorate of Rev. Trueblood, with the belp of Elder Field and others of the truss good, comfortable parsonage has also been built. Rev. Trueblood has conduct ed several very ancoemful revivals at his church during his 2-years pastorate, and as the result of his labors 104 persons have united with the church. So far as we know it is the wish of the congregation that Rev. Trueblood be returned to this charge, and certainly the conference could not do better than return him. He is a minister who has made many acquaintances and friends in this community and is well liked by all our people.

Brown buying all the stock held by the other stockholders, Messre, C. H. Brown, Jos. D. Shaffer Edward Jamison and Thee. A. Gehrmann. There are 200 shares now owned by Mr. Brown, and ench share is valued at $100. He will conduct the business at the old stand.

Dangerous Frost. This section of the country was visited by a severe cold anap on Saturday, when it was so chilly that fires and flaunch were quite comfortable. Sunday morning there was a heavy frost, but not so heavy as to do serious harm, as most of the farmers interviewed to-day state that corn is not injured materially. It was a close shave, however, and all would fee much better if Jack Frost would hold off until about the 25th of the present month There was another frost noticeable this morning, but it was lighter than that of Junday morning.

ARGUA, III, October 24, 1881.

Mas Dr. Krek-Kind Friend: I om traiy any my wife is enjoying botter health than for ten years. Having suffered with kidney discussioners! twenty years, being pronounced diabetes, growing worse all the time, her guine health being affected, and lawing the worst femile trouble, at times suffering path what he health death; and for to years she had been dectoring with the best of physicians without seeing any relief; but I did not expect any change in so shorts treatment, for I knew the disease was a chronic trouble, and she had dectored for ten years with other physicians without relief, and, to be just, i must give Mrs Dr. Keek a fair trial. But during the eighth week the improvement was ply this: It is the best I on preparation ever made; 19 compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and it—no more and no less. By thorough and rapid must give Miss Dr Kock a fair trial. But during the eighth week the improvement was wonderful. My friends said it would not har, and the trouble would return; but I am happy to state that the improvement continues, and she reels comparatively well, although I expect it to take lime to get a permanent curre for a disease of twenty years' standing commit be a chief of a month of two. I even expect those will be days when she will feel badly, but so far there has not been any return of the disease. I can say that I teel tankful to Almighty God for making Mrs. Dr. Keck the instruments in the hands of the lost, for it do in brilaye in the lands of the lost, for it do in brilaye in the lost of the misery this long, for she was so middly growing worse.
